Premolded polystyrene insulation panels that are attached to the house frame with Suretouch stainless steel anchors

Different sizes of stones that are easily inserted into the panels

Add mortar to finish the installation

1

APPLY THE PANELS

Screw the premolded insulation panels to the building frame using stainless steel screws and anchors. The anchors that extend beyond the panel at the joints will later be finished with mortar.

2

INSERT THE STONES

Insert the stones into the insulated panel cells.

3

JOINT THE STONES

Use a mortar bag to inject the mortar between the stones to secure them in place. All that's left is to smooth the joints, remove any excess mortar, and step back to admire your work.
